Paint Brush Tips

What is the best way to clean paint brushes after using oil-based and water-based paints?

Clean paint brushes immediately after use. Do not soak brushes in solvent or water, as this can damage the bristles. Consider using one set of synthetic painting tools for oil-based products and another set for water-based products. A mixture of warm water and mild soap suds is the best cleaning solution for water-based paints. To clean oil-based paints, varnishes, lacquers and shellacs from your paint brush, closely follow the manufacturer's instructions to select the proper cleaning solvent (mineral spirits or paint thinner for paint and varnish, denatured alcohol for shellac, etc.). Whenever possible, store brushes by hanging them. Never store a paint brush on its tip, which can result in "curling".

Measuring For A DIY Ceiling

When figuring out the layout for a room you want to always try to even out the border tiles in the room so it looks balanced and centered, instead of just starting with a full tile in the corner of the room and working your way out of the corner with full tiles.

For this example we'll be using 2'x4' tiles and the room will be 9' wide and 14'6" long and the ceiling joists will be traveling in the 9' direction. We will be placing my main T rows 4' apart.

Figure out the length of the border panels for the width of the room… Divide the width of the room by the length of a single tile: (9' divided by 4' = 2.25 panels) (.25 of a panel =1'). Add the remainder to the length of a single tile and divide by 2: (1' + 4' - 5' divided by 2 - 2'6") that gives a border panel length of 2'6" on each side of the room.

Now to figure out the width of the border panels for the length of my room. Divide the length of the room by the width of a single tile: (14'6" divided by 2' = 7.25 panels) (.25 of a panel = 6"). Add the remainder to the width of a single tile and divide by 2: (6" + 2' - 2'6" divided by 2 = 1'3"). That gives you a border panel width of 1'3' on each end of the room.

Now take all that information and draw out a layout of the ceiling grid. From that you can count up the quantity of parts needed for the project.

MAKE YOUR HOME FEEL BIGGER WITH RECESSED LIGHTING

Recessed lighting makes a room feel bigger because it actually takes up less visual space in the room. Because the light cans are set into the ceiling itself, nothing hangs down to interrupt the visual space of the ceiling. Recessed lighting also makes a room look bigger due to an effect called "wall washing". Wall washing is a lighting effect that casts more light around the room via use of the right kind of trim (the part of the light that is visible from the hole in the ceiling). Wall washed trim involves a directional reflector and a light scoop that directs light onto the wall. If you have a sloped ceiling, an "eyeball trim" can be used.

PAINTED PANEL

Adaptable to any environment, our popular Ameri-Cana panel is suitable for roofing or siding applications on agricultural, residential, light commercial or light industrial building.

Ideal Roofing's Ameri-Cana panel offers superior strength with a strong 80,000 PSI full-hard steel core and five specially designed 3/4" high ribs on 9" centers. Superior strength means savings on wood or steel purlins (consult your load table).

Weather tight Overlap- Ideal Roofing's Ameri-Cana Panel provides better protection against leakage with its built-in anti-syphon groove. This tight-fitting overlap design allows for drainage through its anti-syphon groove if water is forced inside as a result of capillary action. This feature makes the Ameri-Cana Panel ideal for use as a roofing sheet for long and low rafters (as low as 3/12 pitch).

We are stocking 5 colors of accessories also.
